

The concept of law in the battle of constitutional jurist's age

Fardin MORADKHANI

Abstract

The concept law is one of the key concepts in law knowledge. The Iranian In the beginning Constitutional Revolution faced with this concept. Both types of intellectuals and Clergymen in the Constitutional Revolution were an important reflection on this concept. Because of the broad nature of the subject in this article are solely the views studied Clergymen and The reasons for the pros and cons of the Clergymen and their battle to be reviewed. And show how the discussions between the two spectra Sheikh Fazlullah Nuri and students Akhund Khorasani some important issues about the law were decoded. An Iranians theoretical effort of the law is focused on two goals. The First of relationship between Sharia and law, and to create law what use from feghh. The second characteristic of the law means that the text will be adopted as what features have. The first question was discussed in the Clergymen and in this article we examined.

Key words: law, sharia, feghh, Naeeni, Nuri